Interim Suspension

In certain circumstances, the vice president for student affairs, or other designee, may impose a University or residence-hall suspension prior to the hearing before a judicial body.

Interim suspension may be imposed only:

- to ensure the safety and well-being of members of the University community or preservation of University property
- to ensure the student’s own physical or emotional safety and well-being
- if the student poses a definite threat of disruption of or interference with the normal operations of the University

During an interim suspension, the student shall be denied access to the residence halls and/or to the campus (including classes) and/or all other University activities or privileges for which the student might otherwise be eligible, as the vice president for student affairs, or other designee, may determine to be appropriate.

Upon a student’s request, a review of the interim suspension shall be held by the vice president for student affairs, or other designee, within three working days of the interim suspension to determine if the suspension should continue until a hearing by a judicial body on the alleged violation of misconduct is held.
